

Happy morning to you, team. It has been a fast-track six months. We are in the last six of the year, and I hope that, up to this point, all is okay with you. The season of winter is rounding up shortly, and we will be revitalizing in spring that I am geared up to, and I am sure you are, too.

Our teammates took part at the Garsfontein Ice Breaker Marathon this past weekend, and they achieved good results. I should say the synergy in this team is amazing. That it how it is that coming together is a beginning, keeping together is progress, and working together is success. I wish you all the best.

May this week continue to be filled with happiness, laughter, and good times. The weekend is also at close quarters, and it is the only time in the week when we can relax and do the things we wish to do outside of work with running not ruled out too.

Stay strong, stay bright, smile, and everything will be all right.

Way to go, team, and catch you later.
